

#5758

The Computer History Museum and Global Technology Symposium invite you to attend

Access Russia: Tapping the U.S.-Russia Innovation Collaboration

Wednesday, July 20, 9:30-11:30 a.m.

Computer History Museum, Mountain View, CA

PROGRAM OF EVENTS:

9:30 am: Networking breakfast, video clips
about Russian innovation by filmmakers
John Hollar and J. Mitchell Johnson

10:00 am- 11:30 am:
Featured panel and Q&A with:

Craig Barrett, retired CEO/Chairman of Intel Corporation and International
Co-Chair of Skolkovo Foundation Council

Igor Agamirzian, CEO of Russian
Venture Company

Dmitry Akhanov, CEO of Rusnano USA

Tim Draper, Managing Director of Draper
Fisher Jurvetson

Alexey Sitnikov, Director of International Development, Skolkovo Foundation

Alexandra Johnson, Managing Director of
DFJ VTB Aurora (Moderator)

Since President Medvedev's landmark visit to Silicon Valley one year ago, Russia's tech industry has taken off, with Intel's recent investments and Yandex's IPO as proof. From Skolkovo to regional start-ups, Russia offers a new innovation frontier. But how can U.S. investors gain access?

The Computer History Museum and the Global Technology Symposium invite you to attend "Access Russia: Tapping the U.S.-Russia Innovation Collaboration" to address this topic and more. This exclusive briefing will provide U.S. and Russian tech industry leaders and media the opportunity to discuss both obstacles and opportunities to doing business in Russia.

This event is by invitation only.
Please RSVP to
Katherine.Avgerinos@ketchum.com or call +1 646 935 4394 with questions.